November 1st, 2007 Edition

NOVEMBER GIGS: Sunday, November 4th, KC Blues will be doing a Solo show at Six Shooters, Phoenix (35th Ave./ Peoria) from 6:00 pm to 7:30 pm. This is the 1st Annual Music Bash Benefit. $10.00 cover charge at the door. All proceeds will go to a scholarship fund presented by Career Success High School and Daddy's Point of View.

Saturday, November 17th, KC Blues will be performing solo for a benefit for Ronald McDonald Houses of Arizona, at the South Valley Jr. High School, in Gilbert, on Lindsay between Ray Rd. and Chandler Blvd., from 5:00 pm - 5:45 pm.

Sunday, November 11th, is the Arizona Blues Showdown. The KC Blues Band will be competing with Arizona's best blues bands. Come on down to the Rhythm Room, Phoenix, for some great blues and to cheer for the KC Blues Band! Last year we made it to the finals, and this year we intend to make it to the finals and win! Check the web site for time, which will be posted soon.

Sunday, November 18th, is the Arizona Blues Showdown Finals, at Alice Cooperstown, Phoenix. We intend to make it to the finals! Check the web site for time, which will be posted soon.

WE REALLY NEED YOU TO COME OUT AND SUPPORT US FOR THE BLUES SHOWDOWN GIGS!!

Our schedule is always handy on the web site at www.kcbluesband.com. We hope you can make it to the shows!

Our debut album "Perfectly Toasted Blues" is coming along nicely. Remember this debut CD will be available for the BARGAIN price of just $15.00! We have been listening to the almost finished tracks, and we are sure that it's going to be worth the wait!

On November 3, 2007, Alice Cooper is organizing a golf marathon to raise funds for the Rock Teen Center. For more info please go to the www.alicecoopersolidrock.com or www.alicegolf.com or email: marsha@alicecoopersolidrock.com or call 602-522-9200 for further details.

ANOTHER QUOTE OF THE MONTH FROM SPINAL TAP, BECAUSE WE KNOW YOU LOVE SPINAL TAP AS MUCH AS WE DO:

Nigel Tufnel: [on what he would do if he couldn't be a rock star] Well, I suppose I could, uh, work in a shop of some kind, or... or do, uh, freelance, uh, selling of some sort of, uh, product. You know...

Marty DiBergi: A salesman?

Nigel Tufnel: A salesman, like maybe in a, uh, haberdasher, or maybe like a, uh, um... a chapeau shop or something. You know, like, "Would you... what size do you wear, sir?" And then you answer me.

Marty DiBergi: Uh... seven and a quarter.

Nigel Tufnel: "I think we have that." See, something like that I could do.

Marty DiBergi: Yeah... you think you'd be happy doing something like-...

Nigel Tufnel: "No; we're all out. Do you wear black?" See, that sort of thing I think I could probably... muster up.

Marty DiBergi: Do you think you'd be happy doing that?

Nigel Tufnel: Well, I don't know - wh-wh-... what're the hours?

JOKE OF THE MONTH:

Letter from a professional guitar player to the "Dear Abby" help column in a newspaper.

Dear Abby...

I think my wife is cheating on me. I am a working musician and, as you would expect, travel a lot. I have been noticing strange things happening when I get home. Her mobile phone rings and she steps outside to answer it or she says, "I'll call you back later". When I ask her who called she gets evasive. Sometimes she goes out with friends but comes home late, getting dropped off around the corner and walking the rest of the way. I once picked up the extension while she was on the phone and she got very angry.

A buddy of mine plays guitar in a band. He told me that my wife and some guy have been to his gigs. He wanted to borrow my guitar amp. That's when I got the idea to find out for myself what was really happening. I said, "Sure, you can use my amp but I want to hide behind it at the gig and see if she comes into the venue and who she comes in with". He agreed.

Saturday night came and I slipped behind my Marshall JCM800 half stack to get a good view. I could feel the heat coming off the back of the amp. It was at that moment, crouching down behind the amp, that I noticed that one of the tubes was not glowing as bright as the other three. Is this something I can fix myself or do I need to take it to a technician?

Thanks,
Very Concerned
